Questions for Reflection and Discussion

Psalm 133

1. When have you experienced a season of great unity—either with one person or a group of people? What metaphors would you use to describe it?
2. What factors helped to create that season of great unity? What ended it?
3. What role have you seen dependence on one another play in creating unity?
4. Which is more natural for you: depending on others to help you, or offering to help those in need? Why?
5. What is something you could do to develop whichever one is less natural for you?
6. If God created us for the purpose of being in relationship with Him and one another, why do we so often put relationships on the back burner to accomplish something else?
7. What typically competes with relationships for your primary focus? What would change if you moved your relationships (with God and others) more to the center of everything you do?
