Questions for Reflection and Discussion

Psalm 91

1. Which is most natural for you to believe: that God's power is unmatched, that God's power is proactively working on your behalf, or that you can approach the all-powerful God with confidence? Most difficult? Why?
2. During difficult seasons, which aspect of God's power is most comforting: that God's power is unmatched, that God's power is proactively working on your behalf, or that you can approach the all-powerful God with confidence? Why?
3. In general, how have you reconciled verses like Psalm 91:10—"No plague will come near your tent"—with the undeniable fact that many faithful people die of plagues?
4. If God really will use all circumstances for our good (including our pain or even death), and you could live yesterday all over again with the one difference that you understand God's power in your favor, what would change?
5. If God gave you the choice of long life, good health, and no pain, but you also wouldn't have Him, would you take it? Why or why not?
6. If God gave you the choice of short life, poor health, and lots of pain, but you would also have Him in abundance, would you take it? Why or why not?
