Questions for Reflection and Discussion

Leviticus 16

1. After hearing this message, if someone asked you the point of the temple or the point of sacrifices in the Bible, what would you say?
2. Do you typically feel like you need to pursue God or that God is pursuing you? Why? How does the provision of the temple inform your answer?
3. Are you typically more downcast about the brokenness in the world or hopeful that God will do something about it? Why? How does God's progressive intervention from temple to Jesus to new creation inform your answer?
4. Do you more often notice the destructive effects of sin in the world or in your own life? Why?
5. When was a specific time that you felt tension between extending grace versus demanding justice? How did you resolve it?
6. Are you generally someone who more often extends grace or someone who demands justice? Why? How can God's solution to the tension between the two help to balance your approach in the future?
