
Date: September 17, 2023 Message: Marriage, Kids, and Slavery

Series: Inclusion then Action Scripture: Ephesians 5:21-6:9

Husbands and wives:

Fathers and children:

Masters and slaves:

Questions for Reflection and Discussion

Ephesians 5:21-6:9

1. What can make us hesitant to totally prioritize someone else above ourselves? What can be done to make us more willing to prioritize others over ourselves? How can the cross help?
2. What are some practical examples of how husband and wife can prioritize one another? Parents and children? Those with power in a society and those without? How will you prioritize people in these groups?
3. What difference could it make if various groups in our current culture who are typically hostile to each other began to submit to one another? How could something like that begin?
4. When are some times that you often expect others to serve you? Why do you think that is? What would it look like for you to flip the situation so you served the other person?
5. What makes the difference in your mind between joyfully serving others and feeling like serving others is a burden? Is there a way to move yourself toward more joyful service?