Series: Esther: Sovereignty in Silence Scripture: Esther 6 & 7

The demise of Haman:

The "justice" Haman received:

2)

The mercy Haman foreshadowed:

1. In what ways have you seen the "reap what you sow" principle for good or for ill?
2. In what ways have you seen the opposite of this principle (such as the good punished or the wicked rewarded)? What does Scripture say about these types of situations?
3. When have you felt yourself in opposition to the God of the Bible? What happened?
4. What do you believe is more transformative: punishing wickedness or forgiving wickedness? What does God do in Christ?
5. When have you been forgiven when you really shouldn't have been? What effect did it have on you?
6. In what ways does God's gracious treatment toward us in Christ inform the way we treat others? Can we still hold people accountable? If so, how can we do it graciously?
