Questions for Reflection and Discussion

John 10:1-15

1. What specific counsel would you give to someone who wants to know how to go about discovering God's plan for their life?
2. What does the imagery of the shepherd and the sheep in John 10 reveal about the nature of Jesus' relationship with His followers?
3. Do you experience Jesus to be the Good Shepherd in your life? If so, in what ways?
4. How does Jesus' statement, "My sheep listen to my voice; I know them, and they follow me" apply to your personal spiritual journey?
5. What is different about the voice of the Good Shepherd, as opposed to other voices in the world? How can you be sure you're listening to the voice of the Shepherd?
6. If you really want to hear from God, what are various reasons that you should always start by first going to the Bible?
7. What are some specific aspects of God's calling for our lives as believers that we don't really need to pray about or ask God to disclose to us, because He has already revealed them to us in Scripture?
8. How important is it for you to know every step and detail of God's plan and how it will play out before deciding whether or not to act on what He tells you to do? Why might taking that approach be limiting and even dangerous?
