Questions for Reflection and Discussion

Romans 13

1. Which of the different Christian approaches to politics or government do you most resonate with?
2. Why do you think political conversations become so divisive among Christians?
3. What are some practical ways the church can model healthy disagreement in a polarized culture?
4. Why do you think Paul keeps the government's responsibilities broad rather than giving detailed policies?
5. How does recognizing the limits of government help Christians avoid putting too much hope in politics?
6. What is the difference between submission and blind obedience?
7. Why is it easier for some Christians to withdraw from culture rather than engage it? Why is it easier for others to attempt influence through domination? Which way do you tend to lean: withdrawal or domination?
8. How does the cross reshape the way Christians should think about power, influence, and cultural change?
9. Why are sacrifice and submission often harder than domination or withdrawal?
